March 19, 2010

Press Release

Recently, Jerry Heller and Alice Hamilton Evert of the Business Controversies group obtained a significant judgment on behalf of a large residential property owner in a utilities-related dispute with a neighboring property owner. After a three-day trial in federal court, the jury found that their client was entitled to substantial reimbursement from the neighboring owner for utilities paid on its behalf over a period of five and a half years. The judgment was a positive resolution to a complex matter requiring extensive review and analysis of accounting and utilities management issues.
