The Business Transactions team provides counsel in corporate, securities, tax and commercial finance law, for clients in real estate, manufacturing, professional services, investment banking, commercial lending and venture capital/private equity.

"Our specialty is working with clients involved in putting together financing deals that are equity-related, debt-related or some combination of the two," says Jack Orrick. "We also set up new businesses, handle M&A, tax planning and more, and plan and negotiate transactions of all kinds."

The goal is to structure transactions to fulfill clients' goals, comply with regulations and take full advantage of tax laws. These attorneys deliver the experience needed, and draw on the full breadth of business experience across the firm. Linowes and Blocher LLP is one of the region's leading full-service real estate and business law firms.
