The firm provides a wide range of legal services for the mining and aggregate industry. Our attorneys understand the industry, and are familiar with the unique concerns relating to the life-cycle of these operations, from development, operation, reclamation, to the eventual redevelopment of these properties. We represent owners and operators of these facilities, as well as entities involved with the reclamation and redevelopment of these properties, whether for residential or commercial development or for mitigation purposes. Our work includes:

- Acquisition and Financing
- Zoning and land use entitlements for new mining operations
- Permitting, including water appropriations and discharge permits.
- Reclamation and Redevelopment
